PROFILE

A graduate of software engineering, I'm keen to learn more in order to benefit society and work strategically to advance the organization and the IT sector.

My strong points are my work ethic, emotional intelligence, and corporate commitment. I think these qualities would lessen the steepness of my professional rise and learning curve.

A software engineer, what motivates me is finding solutions and improving systems. Having been a member of cooperative and agile teams creating customer-facing experiences, I've worked with exciting stuff like Python, React, and Network Security.
